What People Think of Registration Board

DEMOCRATS HIGHLY ELATED OVER THE GOVERNOR'S BLUNDER.

Dr. McGrew Says Thur day's Work Will Result in Strengthening Democracy and Enabling it to Carry the Election. There has probably been no official act here for years, and certainly none since annexation, that has so aroused action in making appointments for the registration boards. It has been the subject of general discussion on the streets for the past two days. The strictures on the apconditions of men, without reference to party lines. They are condemned by Republicans, Democrats and Independents alike, with very few exceptions. and some of the severest criticisms heard have been made by the former political supporters of the Governor's faction, who, for "auld lang syne," wish their expressions of opinion withheld in the hope that the appointments will be recalled and non-partisan or blpartisan boards appointed. The general feeling seems to be that new appointments should be made more fairly representing all political parties in the Territory. There has been no objection to a majority on the registration boards being Republicans; the objection is to all the members being of that party. Among a large number of opinions expressed to The Rebe found typical of various shades of What kind of a Democracy have we without representation?" W. R. Farrington, member of the Republican Territorial Committee, "The most serious mistake in connection with these appointments is the precedent established of making the registration board representative of only one party. As a Republican, I do not think the appointments will either make or break the party. I shall do It Was Decided Last Night to Ask all I can at all times, in every way possible, to secure the success of the party at the polls. If the Governor has made a move which is likely to endanger the success of the party, I consider it my duty to work all the harder for the party, irrespective of any appointments or preferment of which I may or may not approve. I am first, last and always a party man, and a do not believe in violating party principles and precedents." Dr. McGrew was seen vesterday evening. Raisingh is hand in the air, the doctor said with emphasis:

"It is just the best thing the Dole government ever did for the Democrats of the Territory; I believe these appointments on the boards of registration will insure the Democrats a victory at the next election, and you may be assured we will take every advantage that is offered us by the Reblican appointees to beat the Republican party with. The Democratic party of the Territory will be heard from in no uncertain way before the first elections are held."

Mr. Hugh McIntyre said with great diffidence: "Well, what did you expect? These appointments are not a surprise to me, and they should not be to anyone that is acquainted with the past methods of the faction represented by Governor Dole. If you tax him about the matter he will simply say he did not know what the politics of the men selected were, and what can you do? All you can say is that the governor is a pretty good guesser: It is simply a repetition of the political star-chamber proceedings of the past. always in vogue when these men and their friends have been in power. The lemon leaves are affected by the disease which we know in this country as "scab" or verrucosis. It is produced by the attack of a parasitie megus Ciadosporium citri. This causes considerable damage to the lemon industry in certain parts of the United States and has been the subject of some investigation by the Department of Agriculture. You will find a discussion of the disease and methods of treatment in Bulletin No. 8 of this division, a copy of which is mailed to you under separate cover.

The potato leaves were in a had condition and we find that they were unloubtedly affected with the petato rot fungus (Phtophthora infestans). You will find a description of this disease and treatment in Farmers' Bulletin No. 91, a copy of which will be sent you. This disease is more fully described in Farmers' Bulletin No. 15 of this department, which may be accessi-

The potato disease bulletin describes the disease and recommends treatment as follows: This disease attacks the leaves, stems and tubers. Generally, the first noticeable effect upon the leaves is the sudden appearance of brownish or blackish areas, which soon become soft and foal-smelling. So sudden is the appearance of the disease in some cases that fields which one day look healthy may wither the next day or two, become blackened as though struck by fire. On the other hand, if the mean daily temperature exceeds 77 degrees for a few days, the development of the disease is checked. The tubers affected by the disease show depressed dark-colored areas on the surface, while within are blotches or streaks of a brownish or blackish color. Treatment.-This blight may be held in check by the application of the fungiside Bordeaux mixture. This is prepared and applied as follows: Pour into a 50-gallon barrel 25 gallons of lear water; then weigh out 6 pounds of rushed bluestone, or copper sulphate, and after tying it in a piece of coarse sacking, suspend the package just be-neath the surface of the water by means of a string tied to a stick laid across the top of the barrel. In auother suitable vessel, such as a tub or half barrel, slack 4 pounds of fresh lime. Slack the lime carefully by pouring on small quantities of water. Add sufficient water to make 25 gallons.
